

Buying on eBay

eBay is an online shopping site that is best known for its auctions however increasingly businesses are using eBay to sell directly to the customer. As a result, it is a mix of novice sellers and professional businesses. Some items allow you to bid on them whilst others have a set price.

Before you can purchase anything on eBay you need to register.

To Register

- Enter your name and email address.
- Choose a password.
- Select Register. (Once you have registered you will have to verify your account by replying to an email.)

Once you have registered you are taken to the home screen.

Here you can search for an item or browse the different categories.

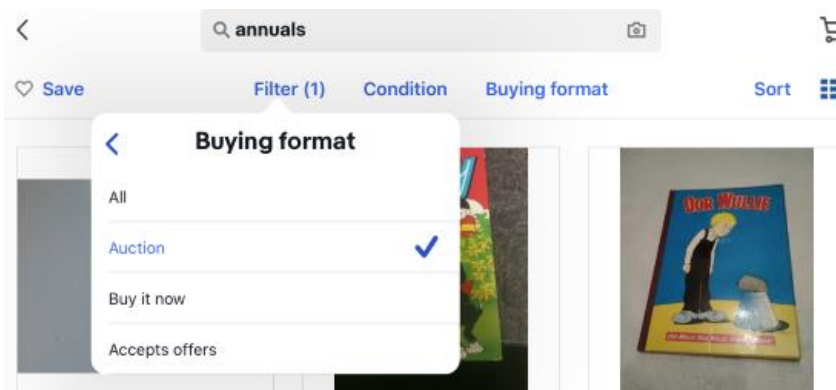

Before you can purchase an item or bid in an auction you must complete your payment and delivery details.

Some items can be purchased immediately from the seller.

Just tap on Buy it now

If you are interested in auctions you can use Filter to only look at auction items.

Bidding in an action

Tap on Place Bid

This example shows that at the moment the winning bid is £0.80. Don't forget you will have to pay postage as well. If this person wins the action they will pay £3.90 in total. So far there are 2 bids and the action will remain open for another day and 9 hours.

When you tap place bid a keyboard will appear. You should type in the maximum amount you wish to bid. This will not be your first bid as eBay will increase your bid in increments depending on existing bids.

You can review your bid before you confirm it. Once you bid you are obligated to complete the purchase if you win.

Although I bid £1.00, one of the previous bidders must have set a higher limit as it automatically submitted their bid of £1.20. In this case you are informed that you are not the highest bidder and you are invited to bid again.

If you then submit a winning bid you will be notified once the auction finishes and payment will be taken.
